GENERAL NEWS.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN

Terrible Explosion.

Vicksburg, May 1.—At 9 20 this morning the steamer Warner, from New Orleans to St Louis, exploded her boilers when opposite Vicksburg. The pilot house and roof were blown off. The great height and fell back upon the boat, while the air was filled with splinters and segments. The wreck took fire immediately and the smoke and steam hid the boat from the crowd which soon lined the shore. It was thought all on board had perished. The tug De Soto and two or three others soon at the wreck and succeeded in getting the fire under control before the boat had sunk out of sight and two were on fire, but the tug extinguished them on the shore.

Loss of Life.

The following is a corrected list of the lost by the explosion of the tow boat Warner this morning: Georges Dawson, Capt Dickson and Wm. Pettik, Wm Ratcliffe an engineer, of Pittsburg. The carpenter, Nick Kennett, in the water after the explosion and shoved him a plank, but was badly wounded and soon sank. Two others assisted two men out of the water. It is believed was trying to rescue others when the wreck sank carrying him down. All the wounded are doing well.

A Bowdoin Skirmish.

Bowdoin, May 1.—On Friday last the students assembled at Lanoudes 18 miles from here, on the Corpus Christi road and proceeded to Santa Sedora on the river Nueces. At 5 o'clock on Saturday morning the Mexicans attempted to cross the river, but were driven back. They were led by Cortinas, a well known Mexican desperado. They were met by a party of Americans and a skirmish ensued in the disconfiture of the Mexicans, eight of whom were made prisoners, the wounded and two killed and the others drowned in the river in their efforts to escape.

Sheridan Wants to Come Back.

Washington, May 1.—General Sheridan this morning received a report from Gen Miles commanding the district of the Yellowstone, at Keogh, Montana, informing him that Sitting Bull and 144 men, all head warriors, had sent a half breed to Gen Miles stating what kind of peace the Indians would make with them, and that their father was of course too rich for the Indians to give up their poor children and their old guns. Gen Miles informed Sitting Bull that if he desired peace all trouble between the two nations must cease. When the Indians give up their horses and guns they will receive the property of greater value in exchange, and when peace is made the government provides for them, as it does for other Indians.

Cattle and Horse Thieves.

Cheyenne, Wy., May 1.—On the night of the 1st four masked men broke into the store of John R. Smith, near Fort Laramie, and carried off everything of value in the store, besides four horses and two mules belonging to Smith. A party of 20 cavalrymen under the command of Sergeant Ground, left Fort McKinney to pursue and capture the thieves The road was followed to Buffalo, and McKinney is so interlaced with trails made by bands of horse thieves that the tracks of horses or mules is almost impossible to follow, the animals generally running off the animals from the ranches. A vigilance committee has been organized.

Fire at Mexico.

Mexico, May 1.—A reliable report from Tula to-day states that two horses were stolen from Tula, while attempting to escape from the burning town, 100 miles from here. Their horses, which were left at Scott's ranch, at Jenny's Creek, were found on the bank of the Rio Grande river, 100 miles from here. Their horses, which were left at Scott's ranch, at Jenny's Creek, were found on the bank of the Rio Grande river, 100 miles from here.

Death of Morrissey Dead.

New York, May 1.—John Morrissey, ex-congressman and ex-senator from New York city, died at 7 this evening He had been sick for a long time, and without any unfavorable change after the New York papers went to press, when he motioned for his wife to approach. About half-past 5 an unconscious change took place and he sank rapidly. Father McMenory, Catholic priest, was sent for, who promptly arrived and administered the extreme unction to the dying man. Morrissey was rapidly failing, he was surrounded by his family and friends were present. Mr Morrissey died in the hand of the priest Morris Ryan and his partners are here, but nothing definite is known regarding how he left his property.

The House's Action on the Appropriation Bills

Washington, May 1.—The House made considerable progress with the Legislative, Executive and Judiciary appropriation bill to-day and sustained the recommendations of the committee in every particular though it was clearly shown by the Republican minority that the clerical force provided for some branches of the public service such as the general land office for instance is manifestly inadequate to bring up arrears of business The majority seemed determined to make a showing of economy and to throw upon the senate the unjust opprobrium of extravagance for supplying house omissions The portions of the bill adopted to-day include the items of expense of government in the territories The salaries of governors and judges are uniformly provided for at the rate of $2,600 and of secretaries at $1 800 per annum Detailed restrictions are placed upon the expenses of the territorial legislatures the councils being limited to nine members and the lower branches to eighteen members each The compensation of members is fixed at $4 per day during the sessions The number and pay of legislative employes are also minutely described with small maximum limits and the expenditures for public printing in any territory are in no case to exceed $2 500 per year The necessity for such restrictions has been abundantly manifested during late years, and the committee is doubtless entitled to credit in this instance for one display of economy that is genuine

The Senate's Action on the Bankrupt Bill

The action of the senate to day in voting to postpone the date for the repeal of the bankrupt law until the 1st of January was so totally at variance with yesterday's vote of the same body as to seem to outsiders almost inexplicable A conversation with senators, however disclosed two causes for this change of attitude, which do not fully appear in the official report of the proceedings In the first place, hundreds of letters and telegrams protesting against immediate repeal were received by members of the senate to day from all parts of the country, and secondly, the two North Carolina senators were busy among their colleagues to day making urgent personal appeals based upon the fact which was stated by Ransom in the debate that unless the repeal of the bankrupt law be postponed for a few months very many people in their state will be turned out of homes without mercy This, he said would result from a recent decision of the U S supreme court that the homestead law is not good against old debts

Thurman also who was absent yesterday powerfully reinforced the arguments of Matthews and Ingalls that the bankrupt law should be retained as a protection for honest debtors during the trying period which will elapse be ween the present time and the resumption of specie payments The amendment thus obtained a small majority of three although two thirds of the same senators yesterday voted steadily in the direction of immediate repeal Sargent, Mitchell and Grover were recorded in favor of postponing the date of the repeal, and Booth against postponement It was generally believed to night that in the event of senators' adherence to morrow to the proposition for postponement the house will either concur in it or compromise on some date about the 1st of October

GRAND OPENING.

The Paris Exposition Begun in Grand Style.

PARIS May 1—The international exhibition of 1878 was opened to-day with great eclat the programme heretofore made public being practically carried out President MacMahon reached the exhibition at 2 o clock in his state carriage escorted by his military household He was welcomed by Jesserenne de Bort, minister of commerce, and declared the exhibition open amid salvos of artillery and music by the band The marshal then at the head of a brilliant procession which included the Prince of Wales ex King Amadeus, and the Crown Prince of Denmark and Netherlands, proceeded through the exhibition buildings The scene was picturesque and imposing in the extreme State bodies in grand uniform counsellors and magistrates in their robes, and different bodies of the institute and legion of honor stood in strong contrast with senators, deputies and clergy, and other officers in their civil costumes The exhibition building is gaily decorated with flags of all nations and an immense crowd is in the vicinity The American section, though unfinished compares favorably with others The department of manufactures shows the least progress The American art department is the best ever shown abroad by America

PARIS, May 1—Despite the fair weather that prevailed in the forenoon, it was showery, when the ceremonies of the opening began but in half an hour the sun was shining brightly The immense crowd was very enthusiastic Cries were everywhere raised of "Vive la Republique" "Vive la France" President MacMahon said

I offer my congratulations upon the magnificent result achieved and of which I am happy to have the whole world as a witness We have also to thank the foreign nations for so completely responding to the appeal of France In the name of the republic I declare the exhibition opened

The marshal subsequently congratulated Mr Krautz the organizer of the exhibition and congratulated him on the auspicious opening of the grand enterprise

NEW YORK, May 1—A special from Paris says During the past two days the city has been continually under a cloud Thunder storms have succeeded each other and rain has fallen in torrents The effects of the favorable change in the weather were soon visible Friends of the Exposition were in their glory and conservatives looked moody The aristocracy quarters were alone dismal and lifeless But few flags decorated the windows of legitimists and Bonapartists, and it was evident the enemies of the republic were determined to frown down the great republican project of the day

The American department is nearly ready It will be the best ever shown abroad by America The hall is too small but it is beautifully arranged and contains 100 paintings and a few water colors The American artists residing abroad represented here include Bacon, Bridgman, Dana, DuBois Ward, Bunce, Maynard, Luppincott and Mayall Places of honor are obtained by Bridgman and Dana Rome is represented by Benson and Vedder Dusaldorf by Shode Munich is not represented

LANDS NEAR SHOALWATER BAY

BRUCEPORT PACIFIC COUNTY
Washington Territory April 15 1878

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Permit me through the columns of your widely circulated paper to say a few words in regard to the lands lying on the Shoalwater Bay River, for the benefit of persons desirous of settling on land of good quality North river empties into Shoalwater Bay north by east from Bruceport distance five miles Passing the high lands at the mouth of the river we come to a fine large tract of open tide land, consisting of some thousand acres covered with fine bunch grass, affording one of the best stock ranges in the county Continuing on up the river the hills and timber lands close in until the country bordering the river assumes a rough and rugged appearance which continues until the first falls or rapids are reached when the hills become less abrupt and gradually recede giving greater width to the bottom lands bordering the stream The river has been explored by myself and some few others for eighteen miles above the fall and the quantity of vine maple and alder bottom lands is computed at fifteen thousand acres, all easily cleared besides large tracts of bench or second bottom lands which would make excellent farms The distance to the bay from the lower part of the land would not exceed eight miles six of which the river is navigable at common high tide for boats drawing five feet of water A good wagon road could be constructed at a small expense to any point of the valley above From about the middle part of the valley a road could be made to the upper part of the valley along Bear river to Riverside—distance south by west Willapa river at Riverside—distance south by east nine miles There is an Indian trail already cut connecting the North river valley with the Willapa valley but it is a mere apology for a road, mostly located with its course through the heart of the heaviest timber land and over hills and through swamps Near the head of navigation on North river is a fine water power and first class mill site Near the head of navigation on Bear river is a fine mill site and water power Land can be taken under the pre-emption law, timber claim act or homestead act Any information that I can give in regard to the lands lying on the above streams will be cheerfully given by addressing me at Bruceport, Pacific county, Washington Territory

SENATE

WASHINGTON May 1

The bill called up the resolution submitted by him a few days ago declaring that any radical change in the tariff at this time would be inopportune and a hasty decision for the purpose of having a voice upon

Beck objected and said he proposed to discuss the question on its merits

Wallace gave notice that he would submit a substitute for the resolution declaring that legislation upon the subject of tariff at the present session of congress is inopportune and inexpedient

Beck, the resolutions of the Democratic state convention of Kentucky in regard to the tariff

Wallace asked if the Democrats at the previous national convention did not remit the subject to congressional districts

Sargent asked Did not the convention remit it to congressional districts because Randall nominated the chairman of the price doubters—Horace Greeley and Sharkey

Beck announced that the present tariff Our ships might go out with cargoes but they could not land them free and they could not bring cargoes home on account of the protective tariff He said legislatures would soon replace those who vote for a protective monopoly

Blaine thought it was an anomaly that the seat of Henry Clay in the senate should be the place from which comes free trade argument Beck had expressed a sentiment which to day retards progress in the southern states He declared our ships do bring a great deal more from south America than we send there

The motion of Edmunds submitted yesterday to refer the bill to repeal the bankrupt law and house amendments thereto to a special committee of three senators was rejected

Matthews moved to amend so that the act shall not take effect until the 1st of July 1879

McMillan moved to refer the bill to the judiciary committee rejected 31 to 27

The question recurred on the amendment of Matthews to have the repeal take effect January 1 1880

Thurman favored the amendment

Matthews amendment fixing the day of the repeal for January 1 1879 was agreed to, yeas 35 nays 27 as follows

NOTES FROM WALLA WALLA.

WALLA WALLA April 18 1878

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

After weeks of almost summer weather during which vegetation has advanced with rapid strides the mercury fell even to the twenties Within ten days we have had three severe frosts Incidentally through the extensive nursery of our friend Mr Philip Ritz on Monday last It was a sad sight to see such quantities of fruit blighted and thousands of young scions cut down A portion of the straw berry crop being well covered by the leaves is still spared For ten years or more such destructive frosts have not visited this region

Never was the wheat crop more promising than it is this year Everywhere farmers are putting their plow shares into fresh acres Between here and Whitsburg we have seen them inclining broad sections by just plowing three feet and throwing up the earth in embankments to be surmounted by a new rails This is to save fencing

May Truax of this city expects to remove with his family early in May to his extensive farm 60 miles above on the Snake river where he has already broken up several hundred acres

There has been an active demand for draught horses and wagons this spring

Dr George M Isenberg post surgeon with his wife, recently visited the locality some fifty miles above us across the Snake river where Maj Truax found some interesting and remarkable fossils and in which several soldiers made quite a fine collection of fossil bones among which were several of the jaws of rhinoceros Dr Isenberg has in his possession a remarkable specimen of the ankle bones and tarsal bones of the little horse Dr Isenberg will next week and from the Columbia

On Tuesday evening W H Newell gave one of the series on geology and mineralogy lectures on the Methodist church to a small audience

The Methodist church is entirely finished with its seven months' contract and is entirely free of debt

Walla Walla is centrally located with its rich tributary tract of fine land in close proximity to coal and water power and first class R R facilities Instant day to the Columbia river and 50 miles beyond

I could say to all persons desirous of seeking homes with pleasant surroundings that Walla Walla valley is especially free of chills, fevers and malarial diseases and that people who will come here will find a healthful country with pleasant homes and good society

Walla Walla is fast becoming a favorite resort for invalids from the Sound country and Portland, and the Hot Springs are becoming more and more popular

Walla Walla is still a frontier town and has a wide field for industrious energetic men with small capital

The settlement of the Nez Perces Indians will bring many into the neighborhood

The First National Bank of W T has opened

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

The Workingmen's Row

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1 In several of the workingmen's ward clubs this evening the question as to sustain Kearney or the sand lot and county committees in their plan for nominations to the constitutional convention came up and a great division of sentiment manifested itself, though so far as heard from the majority seemed in favor of Kearney or at any rate his supporters made the most noise It seems probable the matter will result in a decided split in the party unless some means are found to close the rapidly widening breach

The Burnt Chinamen.

One of the Chinamen who was badly burned at the fire this morning died this evening No other bodies have been recovered from the ruins

Mr O'Brien's Condition.

No later news is received concerning the condition of W L O Brien At last accounts he was resting easily, but his friends state that he is scarcely expected to live more than 24 hours

An Infernal Machine.

SAN FRANCISCO May 1—A few days ago Jennie Conners an employe of Buckley's varieties received an infernal machine by a messenger, the nature of which was fortunately suspected before it was opened and a disaster prevented Yesterday W G Lester a man about 30 years of age, employed at the Domestic sewing machine agency No 20 Post street, was arrested and has been charged with assault with intent to commit murder, as the person sending the machine It seems the woman is Lester's wife, but they have been separated

Irishmen and Russians.

Last Sunday afternoon when the last steamer, laden with Irishmen, was steaming down the bay on her return trip from the picnic of the Knights of the Red Branch, and when just opposite the Russian corvette, the Irish national flag was run aloft, the band struck up the Russian national anthem, and the warlike pugnacity lustily cheered the enemy expectant of the hated Sassenach Quite as unexpectedly the Russian man-of-war instantly returned the salute with as vigorous courtesy as if it had been offered by the flagship of the allied navies of the world It dipped the Russian flag and fired a salute of 21 guns and the while crew of the corvette rushed to the side and heartily cheered the Irish flag and the Irishmen returned it The Irishmen on their part fairly cracked their throats with the savage earnestness of their counter cheers

Only Customary Courtesy.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1—Officers of the Russian corvette Crayser, characterize as false and absurd the statement that the Irish flag was saluted by their vessel with 21 guns on Sunday last The facts of the case, according to their statement are that the corvette was firing a salute in honor of Easter Sunday, which by the Russian calendar comes one week later than with us Their attention was first attracted to the Irishmen on board happened to pass in the vicinity at the time and in spirit of the conviviality attendant upon such occasion gave the corvette cheers and dipped the flag The Crayser responded to the compliment by dipping her own ensign, which is no more than is customary in reply to such courtesies from any craft

Fires and Losses.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1—At about 3 30 this morning the acid works of John Reynolds, situate on the San Bruno road, was burned to the ground Loss about $10 000, partly insured The origin of the fire is unknown

The loss at yesterday's fire on Dupont street foots up about $130 000, covered by insurance

Mr. O'Brien Better.

A dispatch from San Rafael says W S O Brien passed a comfortable night and his physicians consider his condition somewhat improved

A Divided House.

At various workingmen's meeting this evening the question of sustaining Kearney in his fight with the Central county committees again came up, resulting as on the previous occasion, in a division of sentiment In the first ward Kearney was present in person In the course of a speech he urged his fellowers to arm and organize as rapidly as possible and stated significantly that there were in Chicago 8 000 and in Cincinnati 3 000 armed and drilled men, who would see to it that the United States troops could not be spared to put down their fellow workingmen in California

The meeting of the German speaking section of the party at Humboldt Hall developed the same diversity of sentiment observable at other places and the meeting broke up in confusion, blows being struck in one or two cases

Pupils' Picnic.

The picnic of the public school pupils at Fassking's Park Alameda was largely attended, about 8 000 being present Everything passed off pleasantly, except that late in the afternoon a number of hoodlums assorted themselves, but were promptly muzzled by the police in attendance before creating any disturbance of consequence

Nearing His End.

SAN RAFAEL, May 1—W S O Brien is gradually getting weaker The end is evidently near Murders, Murders.

LOS ANGELES April 30—Mordecai Stevens was murdered last night at San Dimas canyon, six miles north of Pomona, by a man named Scott After being killed by an ax he was shot three times and his heart cut out A Mexican named Chapo was killed in the first ward of this city by a man named Trinidad Munos to night Another attempt at murder failed

NEVADA.

Virginia was disbursed yesterday, also some from the 1450 and 1750 levels, making 300 in all to make needed repairs of the shaft The company has a large surplus of bullion on hand to pay two $1 dividends for the next 60 days

At a Premium.

[From the San Francisco Call April 26]

A person having a thousand dollars in gold coin to day and desiring to change it into greenbacks can do so by paying a premium for currency This is rather more resumption than most persons looked for Gold coin at a discount is certainly a novelty in this city, which puts its faith on twenty dollar pieces this demand for currency suggests such a modification of instructions by the treasury to the sub treasurer of this city as will permit him to exchange currency for gold Without doubt if currency maintains its present value it will soon pass into general use on the Pacific coast

Petroleum Abroad.

Rev J J Newman lectured in the valley of the Lafayette and opened to a crowded house in one of the prettiest and most important political centers of the west I have myself seen while carriages traveling through this region with their lamps lighted by petroleum Large petroleum companies are now at work in Galicia, Roumania and Italy, and at the Paris exposition will have special reference to the Pennsylvania petroleum exhibit Indeed the whole Italian exhibit is largely petroleum Even the Italian department of the international exhibition at Philadelphia in 1876 was largely lighted by petroleum lamps and chandeliers The eminent chemist who has charge of the scientific exhibit in the Italian department of the government works from petroleum

THE STATE PRINTING

SALEM, May 1 1878

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I do not intend to re-echo easy under the charges and insinuations made in reference to me in THE OREGONIAN of the 29th ult and the Standard of the 30th The Standard has published in defence of Mr Noltner the certificate I gave Mr Chadwick to use for his own satisfaction and protection Those certificates were obtained by misrepresentation on the part of Noltner and never would have been given him if a truthful statement as to their use had been made to the secretary But as they are now public I will say there is not a word or a line in them that I would erase The last sentence of the one dated Feb 4th—a portion of which the Standard quotes in its editorial remarks—might have been more clearly stated my meaning which was that a difference of opinion existed as to the effect of the law of 1874 on the allowance of the present incumbent for printing But that is not material

The Standard would convey the impression that I have measured all the printing incident to the session of 1876, which it says amounts to $20 000 The amount is over $28 000 But the trail is I have not measured the yiddle print ing at all All I did and all I was asked to do was to apply the law of 1874 to the senate and house journals of 1876, and to ascertain how much was to be credited to inestate in settlement with the public printer on the session work, by contracting the sentences and broken lines, in accordance with the wording of that law By this examination I found $429 15 due from the house journal and $176 15 from the senate journal—a total of $605 30 I then stated that I had acted without interest—direct or indirect—and in accordance with my best judgment at, and I now repeat the words If it is claimed that I have used the word measured in my certificates my reply is that they were hurriedly written and not intended for the public Mr Chadwick being more interested in the result of my investigation than in the peculiar or exact wording of the certificates Perhaps the words collated the broken lines and sentences would have better expressed the character of the labor required of me No attempt was made by me even to ascertain the number of ems in a line or of lines in a page and yet THE OREGONIAN says that I found a reduction of $608 80 from the measurement made and certified by Mr Noltner No word or sentence in those certificates can be tortured to mean that I had anything to do with the measurement of Noltner, nor was I able to ascertain the total of his measurement at that time or for months afterwards

THE OREGONIAN and Standard both convey the impression that those journals were a large share of the work done by the state printer for session of 1876 The truth is Mr Brown a bill for printing the senate journal was $2 837 40 and for the house journal $3,691 16 The balance of some $22 652 56 I have had nothing to do with in the employ or in terest of any one, nor with any portion of the work except as particularly specified here. Noltner has measured the printing according to the law in force, I shall be glad to know it but if this or anything I have had to do with the session work of 1876 can be construed as a justification of that measurement then I confess this communication has failed of its purpose.

Finally, since so much has been said about the honesty and justice of the measurement of the session work of 1876 I will venture the opinion that a just measurement of that work would show a sum several thousand dollars less than the total which Mr Noltner swore was correct and according to the law

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 2, 1878.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

At the close of the great civil war the Republican party had an exceedingly strong hold on the heart of the country. For eight years thereafter its ascendency in congress was unchallenged. Loss of relative strength since 1873 has followed from causes which are perfectly apparent, in part the result of the constant law of fluctuation which is observed in movements of public opinion as in all other manifestations of force, and in part the consequence of manifest and actual errors committed by the party itself. These last halve been, however, largely the result of inevitable tendencies and conditions. On the surface the policy which attempted by the military power of the federal government to fasten the rule of the newly emancipated and ignorant race upon the states which had been engaged in rebellion was but the logical enforcement of the principles of the Republican party as the champion of the political rights of the negro. But however logical in theory the policy, in its practical results was a baneful one. Misgovernment in most of the southern states, attended by the worst forms of corruption, was the consequence; and this state of things went far to palliate, if it could not excuse, the violent and revolutionary proceedings taken by the southern whites to recover political control. Had it ended simply with the overthrow of colored majorities in the south the general effect upon the Republican party of the country would not have been so injurious. But in the northern states public sentiment revolted against an extreme application of the principles of political equality, and compelled abandonment of the policy even while it was still cherished in principle by the Republican leaders as a necessary means of party success. It was mainly on this issue that the Democrats carried the house of representatives in 1874 for the first time in many years. Republican persistence in the policy has much to do with the steady increase of Democratic strength in the senate, until now it is very certain that this branch of congress, which has long resisted the rising tide, will soon also pass under Democratic control.

But this southern question has not been the sole cause of the decline of that preponderance which the Republican party so long maintained. As a contemporary strongly puts it, another conspicuous cause of disaffection grew out of the demoralizing influences of the war, which were a characteristic of the epoch rather than the fault of a party. Yet the Republican party was held responsible, because it controlled the government. Another and more sinister influence which far more than any legislation or departmental corruption served to deaden the enthusiasm and chill the ardor of the party was that arising from what is graphically called the spoils system, a system by which executive patronage was transferred to congressmen, to be distributed by them to their personal adherents. Senators and representatives abused this power constantly, that they might promote their own personal and political ends. It is true that the Republican party was not responsible for the existence of this system. It had been in vogue since the days of Jackson. But in any party the result of having an army of stipendiaries paid to run it in order to push the personal interests of ambitious men is that they do run it in a large degree; and the active political sentiment of a party in such case is degraded to a mercenary struggle for its rewards, while the zeal of placemen for their patrons supplants the spontaneous enthusiasm of the party for its principles. Such course deadens the spontaneous activities of a party and creates inevitably in its ranks an organization which opposes all such offensive methods of management and dictation. To check this moving cause of disintegration President Hayes has done much; and he might have done more with eminent advantage to his country and party alike.

The Republican party may recover the prestige it has been losing, but it is not likely to do so on any programme yet suggested by its representatives at Washington. A pitiful quarrel with the president because the facility with which congressmen used to control patronage has been somewhat interrupted is not going to put the party on the high road to success. Elimination of the spoils system, at least in its most offensive features, is one of the indispensable conditions; and if the president could be induced to do logically and fully what he has done fitfully and in part, that is to say, if he would wholly refuse to listen to any senator or representative who might desire to solicit appointments or removals, and would make the tenure of office entirely independent of political favoritism, the people would be with him. But there must also be a financial policy which will commend itself to the judgment of the country. Yielding to a movement of the times, the Republican party, which long withstood every effort to push the doctrines of sham currency and incipient communism, has been in some of the states swept almost off its feet. It weakly yielded where it should have stood with firm resolution. The party should throw its whole united influence, without hesitation, for honest money. It has done so in Oregon, and if it would do the like in all the greater states the intelligent classes would see at once that there was a cause to rally for and a party to sustain it.

The Oregonian regrets that it was led by the Standard's misstatements to treat Mr. Waite with injustice. His letter makes it plain that the Standard has been guilty of very disingenuous conduct, since it assumed that Mr. Waite had measured $39,000 worth of printing, and found that only the small reduction of $408 80 should be made, even under the new law. On the contrary Mr. Waite examined only a small part of the work of 1878, and expresses the opinion that just measurement of the whole of it would reduce it by "several thousands of dollars." Following the Standard's statement in regard to the printing measured by Mr. Waite, The Oregonian did him injustice which it hastens to correct. It naturally supposed that the Standard was stating facts, and regrets that it should have assumed that such was the case. All this leaves Mr. Noltner in a plight from which he will not be able to extricate himself by anything short of very humiliating admissions.

WILL BE REJECTED.

The following dispatch from a director of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company to a well known resident of Portland, has been received. It confirms information heretofore furnished through other private sources. It is apparent that the bill that has passed the senate, after having been considered in New York, is regarded as of little value to the company, and that the chances are extremely slim that any aid, commensurate with the work required, can be obtained under it. At first it seems to have been supposed that the bill would partially answer the purposes required, or at least would be better than nothing; but the conclusion evidently is, after there has been time to examine and canvass it in New York, that it will be of little or no value. We make no further comment at this time, but simply add the dispatch:

NEW YORK, May 1, 1878.

The bill passed by the senate is absolutely inadmissible. It has been discussed by the board and will be promptly rejected by the stockholders. Mitchell's course should insure him Oregon's utter condemnation.

According to the Washington correspondence of the New Orleans Times, an independent organ with decided Democratic tendencies, the chief men of the party at the national capital are becoming alarmed at the constant blunders made by the men of that party in congress, and therefore the Democratic leaders in the senate intend to make an active effort to hurry up congressional business, so as to cut off opportunities for a repetition of party blunders, which might injure their chances for carrying the next congress. The New York Evening Post, commenting thereon, thinks "it must be a queer sort of claim to continued ascendency in congress a party can make, so long as it does not protract a session of congress for fear of bad legislation.

Mr. John F. Robertson, of Marion county, writes a long article with design to show that the national debt is payable in greenbacks. The essay would occupy two columns of The Oregonian; and though all articles of moderate length which may be sent us, discussing any side of any question, are usually printed in our columns, we omit this one, first, because it is extremely long, and second, because greenbacks have risen to gold value, and apart from the principle involved it doesn't make any particular difference whether gold or greenbacks are paid.

Senator Grover recently published a card in a Washington paper setting forth that "the published statements in regard to the Oregon legislature are incorrect." And he went on to show that it is composed of ninety members, fifty of whom were elected as Democrats, thirty-five as Republicans, and five as Independents. It is the status of the next legislature, Mr. Grover, not the one elected two years ago, which now interests the average politician.

The Farmers of Mississippi.

[Jackson Letter to N. O. Picayune.]

There were 68,000 farms and plantations in Mississippi in 1870. If the farmers of this state continue to be fed by the farmers of the Ohio and upper Mississippi rivers, in less than ten years not less than 50,000 of these farms will be in the hands of the merchants, and most of the merchants will be "flat broke," with a caravan of elephants on their hands.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 2, 1878.

CITY.

NEW MACHINERY.—The business of Messrs. Alisky & Hegele having grown quite extensive during the past few years, improvements were rendered necessary in the manufacturing departments. Among the most important is an ice cream freezer, which can be operated by steam power or a large fly wheel. The machine is calculated to freeze cream in from 15 to 30 minutes, according to the size of the freezer. On the top of the freezers are shown glass plates on which is shown the cream when finished. The machine is so arranged as to admit of the work being completed without the removal of opening the freezer. The firm consider the improvement very great over the old style. The machine cost, laid down, about $500.

EXAMINING THE RIVER.—Mr. R. A. Habersham, who is connected with the United States engineer's office, went up the Willamette river last Friday and returned Tuesday evening. Proceeding by steamer as far as Corvallis, Mr. Habersham, and another gentleman, embarked in a skiff and came down to the confluence of the Yamhill river, a distance of 65 miles. In descending, Mr. Habersham examined the various bars where wing-dams have been constructed. He found that the work had stood the freshets of the past winter very well, and the channel of the river at the several points was in excellent condition.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY.—MUM SOCIABLE.—At the meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association last night, a young man from Washington territory arose and spoke of the privilege of testifying for Jesus, and of the church people in his town told and that the church people in his town told him they were going to have a "Mum Sociable," and he replied: "That is nothing new; you have mum sociables every week in your town among there that never have a word to say for Him who redeemed you by His precious blood."

EXHIBITION BALL.—Prof. Cardinell closed a most successful season at Oro Fino hall last evening. Some fifty scholars, decked in their best, marched in at 9 o'clock, and during the two hours following executed the various dances taught at the professor's academy. The scene was quite a novel one to the spectators, who were numerously represented. Among the auditors were many who had been formerly the professor's pupils. Dancing was indulged in by all after 11 o'clock. The affair was a success.

NOT THE MAN.—Mr. Allen White, of Oregon City formerly, now a resident of Astoria, came to Portland a couple of days ago. Calling yesterday in connection with a certain item that appeared in the papers a few days ago, he says it will not be necessary for his friends to interrogate him further about that robbery at Salem; for, according to his knowledge and belief, he is not the "Al White" who got notoriety in connection with that affair.

TOWED UP.—Yesterday morning the government dredge and snag-puller were towed from below Weidler's mill to Smith's wharf, near the foot of Salmon street, by the steamer Vancouver. The machinery on both these crafts will receive a general overhauling and be placed in excellent condition to render effective service during the coming working season.

THERE.—A cow belonging to our friend F. R. Keal, of East Portland, has two calves of the same age which he regards as something of a curiosity, one of them being black and white spotted, and the other red. What the color of the mother cow is he failed to tell us, but he thinks at a calf show he could get away with the premium for twins.

PROF. CEDARSTROM.—This, Thursday evening, Prof. Cedarstrom, the talented lecturer, will deliver a lecture at Good Templar hall. His subject will be, "Phrenology, as Applied to Everyday Life." Prof. C. lectured at Good Templar hall Tuesday evening to a large and very resp

A PLEASANT AFFAIR.

RETURN OF MR W S LADD AND FAMILY TO PORT LAND—ADDRESS OF WELCOME BY HE R M PAGE

Mr and Mrs W S Ladd returned on the City of Chester after nearly two years absence Mr Ladd's health is much improved by the treatment received at the east and aside from the remaining lameness he is the same hale and hearty man of yore On Tuesday even ing his house was filled with friends who rallied to welcome him and his wife back to their old home During the evening Hon Matthew P Deady delivered the following address of welcome

MR AND MRS LADD: DEAR FRIENDS—In the glad faces and kindly greetings which meet you here to night you must be convinced that

Where e'er you may roam
Your first best country ever is at home

Months ago you left us to seek health and strength for Mr Ladd in other climes During all the time of your long absence your neighbors and fri ends—the People of Portland have seldom missed you—have anxiously hoped for the recov ery of the invalid and much aided your return here with pleasure

And now we rejoice with you and are glad to see the fire kindled once more upon the domestic hearth and the hall lamp send forth its loving rays through the portals of the old home and we hope and trust that the day is far distant when one shall die out or the other grow dim or the feet of old friends be turned away from the ever open threshold

How often it happens that a person in the course of a busy life wins power, fame and wealth but being bound up in self and therefore denied the good will of his fellow men lives unloved and dies unregretted To all such the journey through this world must be a dull and dreary waste unen lightened by the glow of friendship and unadorned by the pleasing consciousness of benefactions done to others

But as this friendly demonstration so well attests your lives have not been lived for yourselves alone

You sir during an arduous and successful busi ness career of many years in this community have not become so engrossed in self as to forget your duties to your neighbor or be unmindful of the wants and sufferings of the weak and unfor tunate.

More than a quarter of a century ago in the early day of your manhood you commenced the strug gle of life in this city—then a mere opening in the edge of a dense forest in a remote and almost un known country With no resources but willing hands a good heart and a clear head, you took and kept your place in the foremost rank of that body of enterprising young men—some of whom I see here to night—that have made Portland the city of the Northwest and given her a name in the marts of the world which is a synonym for com mercial honesty and solvency

Since then day by day and year by year as God has blessed your labors and increased your store you have not failed to assist in every public bene faction and good work among us

Cast your eyes you who are assembled here to night around and over this fair city, and where ever you behold a church spire a schoolhouse a library a hospital or a factory you may be sure that the material aid and personal influences of our good friend has largely contributed to the result These are his best and most enduring monuments They also remind us how freely he has mingled his life and fortune with that of this people. Besides, there is the effect of the good ex ample How many a one has put his shoulder to the wheel of some public enterprise or charity be cause Ladd did it and without this inducement would have done nothing

And now what more can be said? Much if the time and occasion permitted But we are met here simply to greet our friends upon their return to our midst with kind words and warm hearts, Without then taking time to dwell upon Mr Ladd s claims to our friendship and esteem it is enough to say that the world is the better for his having lived in it Too err is human and no man is per fect But in the scale of infinite justice and mercy we believe that our friend s good deeds will far outweigh his imperfections With joyful congres and glad hearts let us then welcome him and Mrs Ladd to the home in which they have so long lived and worthily borne their parts—and as the shadows of their lives deepen and lengthen may they have in abundance—

That which should accompany old age,
As honor love obedience troops of friends

At the close of the address fireworks were burned by Prof Hughes including a large and beautiful piece containing the words, "Welcome Home At a late hour the party dispersed, after spending a most pleasant evening

AN OREGON BOOK.

The early issuance from the press of a new work of fiction wholly to the manor born is an encouraging sign of the progress of liter ary culture and publishing enterprise in this state Mrs H V Stutzel, the author of the book in question was widely known in this city as a pure and lovable woman a talented writer, and an energetic and efficient toiler in the diversified field of Christian reform For many months prior to her untimely de cease in January last, Mrs Stutzel had occu pied her leisure hours in the composition of a romance, which she had nearly completed when the hand of death beckoned her away alike from the pleasing phantoms of fiction and the relentless care of time Actuated by motives which will be readily under stood and approved, her husband con cluded to carry on to completion the endeavored enterprise of the departed, and thus erect to her memory the graceful monu ment of her mental toil With this view the work, in the naturally crude state of the first writing, was placed in the hands of Mr Samuel L Simpson, under whose care it is now preparing for publication and will be issued about the 1st of August from the well known press of Mr George H Himes, whose name is a sufficient guarantee for the typo graphical excellence of the work While pure in sentiment and moral in tone and teaching, the book will bear no resemblance to the so called religious stories which are justly the horror of the general reader It is read in movement, vivid in interest, and beautiful throughout with the phantom play of magi native lights and shadows The golden thread of a love which, being true never did run smooth is the sensitive axis about which the thought and incidents of the story are crystalized and the scene is wide extend ing from Quebec to Paris We bespeak for it a generous reception by the public as the pro duct of home industry

INDIAN DIFFICULTIES

We have been permitted to make the fol lowing extract from a letter which has been received at military headquarters in this city The letter bears date of Fort Lapwai, April 26th and was written by Capt Wm Falck of the 2d infantry to Capt M A Cochran, 2d infantry The writer says

I have the honor to report that during your tem porary absence from the post this morning a citi zen named William Igo, a packmaster in charge of a train bound for Mount Idaho, arrived here and informed me that last evening a band of some eleven Indians attacked two white men living in Lawyer's canyon, some 40 miles from here drove them into the cabin and kept them there all night Early this morning the white men left their cabin pursued by the Indians when they fired and are supposed to have wounded one of the In dians in the arm The packmaster met them about 20 miles from here and being unwilling to move on with his valuable train returned to Lewiston for further instructions from his employer I at once ordered 2d Lieutenant L. R. Webster with ten enlisted men mounted on all available horses at the post to proceed to Lawyer's canyon and from thence to escort the train to Mount Idaho and to inform himself of the facts in the case as reported, also whether any hostile Indians are about there etc Before sending him I consulted Mr Monteith the Indian agent who approved the sending of the detachment and sent a guide and his inter preter to accompany the troops

The Hibernia steamboat Enterprise Chief which was built at this place by Mr J H Smith for the pur pose of towing rafts left to day for Buena Vista Mr Smith's home Mr Smith has been logging for several years and says he has lost enough logs that have laid for two boats like the Chief and pro poses to now make a print out of his venture.

The annual publication of the Oregon Pioneer Association will be sent out in a few days The press work has all been finished and only the book binders portion of the labor remains to be done It will be by far the most interesting num ber published as it contains all names of the mem bers besides their addresses poems and ob tuary notices

Mr W C Myer of Ashland says he will have several head of his Shetland ponies at the next state fair to show the people Two of the Shetland mares will have their colts with them foaled in Oregon this spring A shed will be built for the purpose of showing the contrast between the size of the Percheron and Shetland as they will stand side by side

The deaf mute school closed to day and as it was the last term of the season a number of the representatives of the press and other gentlemen were invited to witness the closing exercises. The school is under the superintendency of Rev P G Knight who is an earnest educator of this unfor tunate class of citizens assisted by Mr Tinkham and his wife, who are teachers There are twenty six students in attendance, and it is surprising how fast they acquire education with all of their dis advantages The blackboard exercises were very interesting writing short sentences or composi tions spelling all the words correctly while the grammatical construction of the sentences was much more correct than we have seen at school where all could hear Their pantomime acting was very amusing and natural so much so that the story they acted could readily be understood without any explanation Several of our Republican candidates for the legislature were present also Gov Chadwick and Commissioner Walton of this city The latter gentleman made some happy remarks upon the occasion by invitation

Business Failures.

The mercantile agency of R. G. Dun & Co. have made up and issued their report of business failures in the United States and Canada for the first quarter of 1878, and we are indebted to them for a copy. From this report the results anticipated from the large crops throughout the country in 1877 do not appear to have been realized, stocks purchased to supply wants have not been sold, and have, of necessity, had to be sacrificed. Hence as compared with the first quarters of 1876 and 1877 respectively, the failures this year do not make an encouraging showing in the aggregate amounts in value. Speaking only of the first three months of each of the years named, the number of failures in the United States in 1876 were 2,806 and the amount of liabilities $64,641,156; in 1877 2,830 failures and $54,588,070 liabilities; in 1878 3,335 failures and $84,078,826 in liabilities. On the Pacific the number of failures in the same periods were 89 in 1876, with $1,639,562 liabilities; 1877 180, with $2,219,519 liabilities, and in 1878 165, with $2,074,186. It is claimed that the extension of the business of the agency has brought into its classification a large additional scope of country and thus increased the list by including a large number of small traders, but the explanation is hardly satisfactory, as the amount of liabilities seem to have kept pace with the number of failures, the average amount to each failure on this coast in 1877 being $12,850, and in 1878 $12,570. The average in 1876 was over $20,000.

Locally, the money market shows no important fluctuations, the volume of business being somewhat larger than last week and manifesting a somewhat more active demand. Rates on loans and discount are not higher, but are firmly maintained at the figures last quoted. The volume of currency in local circulation is light, and the call sufficient to make it equal to gold in almost every transaction occurring.

Concerning the proposed repeal of the bankrupt law now before congress, the N. Y. Shipping List says, the great weight of the commercial opinion in the Eastern States, is evidently and strongly opposed to the absolute repeal without some substitute being placed on the statute book in its place. At the same time it is on all hands conceded that the law is not what it ought to be. In what direction amendments are called for have been fully set forth in several numerously signed memorials that have been forwarded to congress, all of which maintain that a uniform law should exist all over the country for the prevention of frauds upon, and preference among creditors in cases of insolvency; that the number of creditors requisite to force a dishonest debtor into bankruptcy should be reduced; that the time within which preferential judgments and executions, sales, transfers and mortgages may be attached and set aside, should be enlarged; that the forms and practice of bankruptcy should be greatly simplified, and the cost of proceedings materially lessened.

Immigration at this port, says the New York Shipping List, thus far this season has been much larger than it was last year. The increase is composed chiefly of Germans. The number of immigrants since January 1 is 9,219, against 2,631 in the same time last year. The increase is said to be due to the anticipation of a European war and the encouragement given by friends already in this country. One of the noticeable features among the immigrants is that those who are able-bodied start at the earliest possible moment for the West. It is thought that the total immigration to this country the current year will exceed that of last year by 20,000 at least.

The details of the passage of the ship America show that she passed Cape Horn 87 days from San Francisco, crossed the equator in the Atlantic 63 days out, and made the Fastnet light 83 days out. This is the quickest run from land to land on record, and her time to Liverpool would probably have been 84 days, instead of 90, if the wind had favored her.

The Wool Market.

There is beginning to be heard among dealers, a good deal of speculation concerning the course of the wool market during the approaching season. At the east the same dull condition of the trade continued at latest advices, which had ruled for some days, except that the spring clip is now being put upon the markets to a considerable extent. The Boston Shipping List says "the demand continues to run almost exclusively on low priced wools, including unwashed and unmerchantable fleeces, eastern and Valley Oregon, and fall and spring California. The fact is, goods, but few exceptions, are about as dull and depressed as raw material, and we can scarcely look for an active wool market when the demand for goods is so limited and prices so unsatisfactory.

Fine wools are lower now at the east than for many years, with one exception. In July, 1876, 150,000 pounds choice Pennsylvania fleeces sold at 36½ cents, and one hundred thousand pounds at thirty-six cents per pound. These were the lowest prices known for years, but the market did not continue at that figure for any length of time, as a portion of the same wools were resold before the close of the season at 48 cents per pound. Medium and X fleeces are about as dull as finer grades, and it would be difficult to get over 40 cents per pound at present for any grade of Ohio.

In Oregon wools there have been sales of 70,000 pounds, from 20@27 for eastern and 30@33 for valley, principally at 30 cents per pound for the latter, which is now considered a fair quotation for the best valley Oregon.

New York Freights and Markets.

NEW YORK, May 1.—The freight market shows no material change, leading lines have considerable weight on board in the shape of coal, railroad iron, etc., but it will be a week or ten days before the first will be got off. Rates steady at late quotations. The tonnage movement for the past month comprises six vessels all with general cargoes registering 10,497 tons against ten vessels of 16,375 tons in the corresponding month last year. Owing to a decrease for the month, the total movement thus far this year amounts to 23 vessels registering 36,345 tons against 33 vessels of 57,843 in the same time last year, thus showing that although business the past month has not been equal to the corresponding month last year, yet it has been more evenly distributed, and the amount of merchandise is somewhat equal to last year. The tonnage on the berths and engaged for the rest of this and other ports, although not so large as a month ago, is still sufficient for all present requirements, amounting to 17 vessels registering in the aggregate 28,870 tons, of these it is probable seven with general cargoes and two with full cargoes of coal, will be got off the current month. Offerings of tonnage are not so free of late as ship owners are somewhat discouraged at the current low rates hence with prospect of low rates for grain on arrival, and they are they are not desirous of accepting business. However, as they there is not any other business offering, it is probable that none of the lines will suffer for want of tonnage.

The market remain quiet; flour weak and dull; shipping brands, 5@10c. lower. Wheat dull, 1@1½ lower. Pork, lard and meats dull, unchanged. Coffee more active, holders asking full rates. Refined sugar in moderate demand, prices about ⅛ lower. Teas unchanged. Hides in moderate demand, prices firm. Petroleum and spirits turpentine unchanged.

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, May 1.—The wool market has been characterized by transactions to a fair extent, but prices continue to rule low and unsatisfactory with no prospect of favorable change. Holders are anxious to close up stocks as the wool season is fast drawing to a close. Since the large sales in fine fleece noticed last week very little has been done. Prices still range from 37½ to 40c for Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, including all grades from X to XX and above. New York, Michigan and Wisconsin fleeces selling at 37@37½, and combing and delaine fleeces at 40@45. California in fair demand; sales of spring at 20@28 and fall 14@20.

San Francisco Markets.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN.

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Difficult Diseases,

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS

public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female. He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease, in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease, mentally and physically, he has restored them to health and happiness, for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness.

has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases: Catarrh, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and chest, by an entirely new system only known to himself. Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, including Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood. In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world wide reputation by his, astonishing success, not only on this Coast, but throughout the whole United States. Diseases of the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of, and never fails to give relief at once, and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time.

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints, and understands their delicate and refined organization, as well as the proper remedies which should be used to alley their suffering and restore them to perfect health.

THE DOCTOR HAS THE ADVANTAGE

over most physicians—he can tell the patients' disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual. This accounts in part for his great professional success.

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand, and the patient need not fear the result.

will send to those living at a distance and who cannot well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally, and will forward them the proper medicines, or instruments, to any part of the country with full instructions and advice. Each letter requiring advice or list of questions, must contain two postage stamps.

Everything strictly confidential and honorable.

THE DOCTOR

has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia, as more than one of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify.

CAUTION.

Persons coming to Portland, requiring medical treatment of the proper kind, who desire to consult with me, will please beware of persons who may try to coax them away to other so-called Doctors, through pretended friendship for the patients. Look out for them; they are knaves, prompted by selfish motives and what they can make. Be sure and ask for DR. PAUL M. BRENAN, the Medical Lecturer, and read his sign on his door.

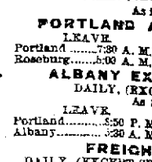
SAN FRANCISCO

To the Unfortunate.



DR. [illegible]'S DISPENSARY,

632 Kearny street, San Francisco.

Established for the treatment of Seminal Weakness, Sexual diseases, such as Impotency, Nervousness, Stricture, Syphilis, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhœa, Diseases of the Urinary Organs, etc. Patients cured, or no charge.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of Self-Abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved habit, too frequently practiced by the youth of both sexes at the most unlimited extent, produces the following train of terrible symptoms, if not entirely eradicated from the system by the following train of morbid symptoms, if not entirely combatted by scientific medical treatment: Pimples on the face, a wan appearance and sickly countenance, dark spots under the eyes, a sunken appearance about the eyes, frequent blushing, trembling of the hands, a dull, heavy and confused appearance of the head, rapping in the ears, dimness of vision, pain in the back, weakness of the limbs, loss of hair, nervous debility, blunted intellect, loss of memory, universal lassitude of the whole muscular system, hot hands, flushing of the body, frequent appearance of blotches on the face, pimples, eruptions, attended sometimes with a troublesome cough, indicating rapid consumption, which ends in the grave. Also, frequent nocturnal emissions, and frequent insanity.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be cured at home by addressing a letter to Dr. [illegible], describing symptoms, length of time the disease has existed, and have medicines promptly forwarded, with full directions for use.
